CAN DO

Volume 36 Edition 1, Spring 2025

Cover: After four years of unwavering dedication and “CAN DO” determination, NSVA Island X-1 of San Antonio, TX has officially completed the long awaited Seabee Monument dedication at the Fort Sam Houston National Cemetery. Originally envisioned as part of the NSVA’s 75th anniversary celebration, the project faced many multiple delays – but with grit, unity and unshakeable purpose, the mission was accomplished. CHAPLAIN’S CORNER

Now that what seemed like a forever winter is finally over, we can look forward to Spring and the rebirth it brings. I for one cannot wait to see the trees bud, the grass grow green & hear a robin sing

We should all use this time and try to make this world a better place to live in. Small acts of kindness, a pleasant word or a sincere smile can go a long way to improving a person’s day

So, the next time you are irritated by someone’s words or actions instead of lashing out at try a little kindness to defuse the situation.

No matter who it is, someone close to you or a complete stranger I think the outcome will pleasantly surprise you.

With a little Practice you will find this easier to do each time you find yourself in a stressful setting

Michael Boncheck National Chaplain
Navy Seabee Veterans of America

From the Editor: Due to the new officers that were elected at the National Convention it was suggested that the CAN DO carry at least two printings of the National Officers contact information per year for the convenience of the members that may not have ready access to the internet. Please see the following page for this information.

Remember the CAN DO is printed and mailed to your address twice annually, the remaining two editions are available electronically on the NSVA Website at www.nsva.org

ATTENTION All NSVA Members

On August 20th thru 24th, 2025 the NSVA will conduct its Annual National Convention in Orlando, FL. This meeting is open to all NSVA members; however, you must be a member of the NSVA in-order to speak, a registered and paid Island/Department delegate or alternate to vote during the meeting. Contact NSVA Sec'y Charlie Coffin for more information.

COMMANDERS CORNER

THE END IS NEAR!

As I reflect on the past 2 years, I am more positive about the growth and stability of our wonderful organization. Having met many difficult challenges and learned from recent situations emerged stronger and more resilient than ever. I am most confident that Eric will expand our mission to engage Seabees to join us for the fellowship of shared experiences. Hopefully we will make it less difficult to join with the help of computers to have less time between I think I want to join and actually having a Lifetime Membership card in hand. Growing the National Island at Large will give future members the flexibility to participate in Island activities or not. Receiving the Can Do both via email and hard copy has greatly benefited all our members and as printing and postage cost rise, we may in the future as the Navy Seabee Foundation does with the Beeline use all email. I hope this will not happen soon as I enjoy turning paper pages. Adding a newly created department of Advertising to solicit Companies and individuals to use our small publication will offset the additional cost. As most of us receive other Veterans related magazines, they all have numerous ads that support their mission.

A few updates on our next Convention in Orlando this August. Our "Dining Out" event will be Friday night at the Medieval Times Dinner Theater Castle just a few minutes from our Hotel. We will car pool for members not having a car thus no need to hire a Bus. As an additional asset UTENSILS WILL BE AVAILABLE on request for anyone not wishing to go native and eat with your fingers. If you have not experienced this event, you will remember it for a lifetime. We are out of necessity going to purchase tickets directly through the MWR at the Shades of Green. By doing this our group will get preferred seating which will save you at least $ 25.00 per ticket. The minor detail is one person buys all the tickets (guess who?) I have not worked out how we will collect for the seats at the Convention but where there is a will, there is a way. The ticket price will be about $ 60.00 and you will not go home hungry. Visit the Medieval Times website and watch the video. Chuck is working on other optional side trips as Orlando really does not have enough places to see and things to do? I will purchase 40 tickets so we will be able to sit as a group and cheer for our favorite Knight and a good time will be had by all.

It was 20 with a wind chill down to 5 when I left Washington DC on March 3rd. It was well worth it as I have enjoyed all the 4 trips to DC, If you are close enough to make either the Veterans Day events or the Seabee Birthday Ball please try as you will not be disappointed.

In the Can Do Spirit

President's Perspective Spring 2025

The 2025 National Convention and Reunion is quickly approaching. Have you sent in your reservations for the convention and for the hotel? Information can be found online and in this Can-Do.

Election of officers will be held at this year's convention. I will not be running for President again and I am sure there is someone out there who would like to lead this great organization even further. All offices are up for election.

The last CAN DO listed all the current officers' contact information and I will repeat it for those who missed it. In the meantime, make your reservations to join us in Orlando in August.

ISLAND HOPPING

Pictured below is NSVA member Doug Bower, member of X-19 Syracuse, NY, and past National 1st Vice Commander. Doug received a "summons" to appear in Albany, NY on Friday March 29th at the request of his State Assemblyman; William A. Barclay, Assembly Minority Leader. Upon arriving at the Averell Harriman State Office Building Campus in Albany, Seabee Bower was escorted into the Assembly Chambers and seated. The Master at Arms called the Assembly to order and the Speaker declared the assembly in session with the rap of her gavel.

The House Speaker then asked for Douglas Bower to stand. The Speaker then read a brief review of Doug's background, sighting his tours in Vietnam, Desert Shield/Desert Storm, and Bosnia/Croatia, and that he had been a Seabee for 26 years. Doug has been deeply involved with promoting the development and issuance of a Seabee stamp forecasted for distribution in 2026. This stamp would commemorate the legacy of the Naval Construction Forces, the Seabees.

Seabee Bower was then presented with a Service Citation Proclamation, recognizing his service to his country as a Vietnam Veteran. The Legislators then stood and applauded, came over and shook his hand. Doug believes 5 or so assemblymen stood up and said "my dad was a Seabee during WWII, he loved the Seabees, they are a unique brotherhood."

Mile High Report from Island X-4 Longmont, CO

On Saturday, March 01, 2025, the Navy Seabee Veterans of America, Island X-4, Longmont, Colorado gathered for their 7th Annual CEC and Seabee Birthday. In attendance were eight Island Seabees, six Honeybees and six Seabee guests. The Island decided to return to The Boot Grill, in Loveland, CO to continue the previously GREAT Successes and Happy Times, to celebrate our accomplishments, the immeasurable history and the future endeavors of the United States of America's fighting forces. Attendees from the left to right FRONT are UNKNOWN (CE CPO), Robert Wheeler, Steven Ransom; MIDDLE are John Hoelscher (guest), Thomas Rasmussen, Gerald Kissinger, Charles Nichols (guest); BACK are Patrick Reinard, Mark Abromski, John DeBerard, Brian Condray, James Proctor (guest) and Dean Namanny(guest). The significant others and not pictured were Dana Condray, Liz Reinard, Ed and Sara Eggloff, Greta Abromski, Janet Wheeler and Madonna Molinario.

Island X-4 is continuously searching for ways to engage fellow Seabees, their families and the local community in gatherings, service days, holiday events and involvement in local service organizations.

TODAY'S SEABEES

This story from Seabee veteran Derek Sansone (NMCB-21, Black Jack Battalion) reinforces my conviction that the Seabees is the most ingenious branch of the military.

My Reserve Navy Seabee Battalion was activated in January 2003 as part of the build-up for the invasion of Iraq. A few months into deployment, 125 of us arrived at a train station outside of the Iraqi city of As-Samawah. The 2nd Battalion, 5th Marines had recently arrived from Baghdad, some 170-miles north.

These Marines were as filthy and bedraggled as any I'd ever seen. They hadn't showered in 6 weeks. Their sea bags were still pier-side in Kuwait. All they had were their assault packs and change of uniform. The Marines had heard they were getting a Seabees detachment. With Seabees, they knew, came field showers, which they desperately needed.

It took us two days to get the showers up and running. We decided that none of us Seabees would shower until every Marine had done so.

Part of being a Seabee is observing what needs to be done and then improvising, as necessary, to achieve it. After the showers were up, we noticed Marines sitting on a curb eating MREs. Trucks and Humvees drove by, kicking up dust that landed on their food.

We went to work building picnic tables to get the food off the roadside. We added camouflage netting for shade. It's hard to understand the importance of creature comforts unless you've been without them. It did not take much effort on our part, and it meant the world to the grateful Marines.

Next, we made a long convoy to the sea port in Kuwait to retrieve their seabags so they could have just a few more comforts.

To keep the showers going, we made “water runs” to the Reverse Osmosis Water Purification Unit in downtown As-Samawah (which pumped & filtered water out of the Euphrates River). We used it for messing (washing dishes), shaving and to fill our giant water bladders for the field showers.

We happened to have an extra bladder and came up with an idea. We added another truck to our water run.

When it returned, we used the water to fill the spare bladder. Then, we ran a hose off the Water Truck Air Compressor (for its Air Brakes) and just like that, we had a “Field Jacuzzi”—a giant bathtub with bubbling water. It was glorious!

Word got out about the improvised hot tub in camp. Some women from an Army National Guard MP unit even came to check it out.

For some reason, the Commanding Officer of the 2nd Battalion, 5th Marines CO wasn’t as impressed as the MPs were. Maybe he objected to the waste of water and truck fuel. I can’t think of any other reason for his discontent (I didn’t ask).

The jacuzzi came down as quickly as it went up. Another SeaBee innovation ahead of its time, I suppose.

The famous SeaBee slogan—“We Build, We Fight”—deserves a small print addendum: “We Have Fun.”

Operation Iraqi Freedom, 2003

A Seabee’s Baptism by Blood and Fire

By Anthony Amesquita, BU2 -NMCB 14

April 1st, 2004.

For some, it was April Fool’s Day.

For me, it was the day I bled into the story of war—my own and my brothers.’

I was flying over the Atlantic, in route to Kuwait, preparing for a northern convoy into Iraq. It was a mission that would take us into the heart of the theater of operations: Al Asad, Fallujah, Ramadi, Haditha Dam—names that still echo in my bones. We weren’t just builders—we were warriors with hammers, hard hats, and hearts full of grit.

Before I faced combat, I faced a cot.

It snapped shut on my hand. I looked down—my index finger split, a piece of meat dangling, bone visible, blood spraying like a warning shot. I fainted. Our Seabee doc? Didn’t flinch. Superglue, gauze, and a look in his eyes that said, “You’ve got work to do. Now go to war.”

And I did.

We convoyed through ancient Mesopotamian land—where Babylon once rose and tribes still battled like ghosts of a thousand empires. I saw people who had nothing but honor. I saw kids smile through rubble. I saw pain etched into the faces of men older than war itself.

But nothing weighs more than this:

Seven of my brothers didn’t come home.

Seven Seabees. Killed in Action.

NMCB 14.

Their names are etched into my soul—and one day, they will rise in stone in our Memorial Tower.
I carry them in every breath I take.
Every nail I drive.
Every idea I build for this community.
They are my blueprint.
The war took pieces of me—physically, mentally, spiritually.
But through the grace of God, I survived
And I refuse to let their memory fade into statistics.
Today, I'm building a different kind of mission:
Healing through legacy.
Digital transformation for every veteran.
Web3 bridges for those still stuck in yesterday.
Purpose for the broken.
This ain't just April Fools anymore.
This is April Forged.
Because some of us don't get to joke around on April 1st.
Some of us remember.
Some of us rebuild.
For the 7.
For the Seabees.
For the future.
"CAN DO."

August 21 Thursday: at 2 PM, the trip will be going to the Orlando Auto Museum. Cost is $25.50 Per person. We will pay at the door.

August 22 Friday: At 6 PM, The Dinner will be at Medieval Times Dinner & Tournament. See Dwight Hamborsky's note below regarding this Event.

August 22 Friday: 6 PM will be a trip to Disney Spring for those who want to do some Disney shopping and to eat some good food.

MEDIEVAL TIMES EVENT.

The event of a lifetime!! August 22 at 6:00 PM (We will leave the hotel about 5:15) google the Medieval times Orlando website for information. I will be buying all the tickets under my blue card so everyone does not have to do an individual ID check for the no tax MWR discount. The tickets will be in an envelope at the convention when you check in.

The price is $ 60.00 per adult ticket and the check is made out to DOFL . Send your request to me directly:

Dwight Hamborsky 2521 Wrencrest Circle, Valrico, Florida 33596.

I am getting only Forty (40) tickets under this group rate. If we exceed this number individual tickets can be purchased at the MWR Shades of Green at Disney.

We will be in PREFERRED SEATING which is a significant upgrade from general admission and receive a Knights Cheering Banner for each guest.(normally $ 2.50) I have no idea why but it is part of the package. As per Google maps which I will have copies in the envelope for you it is 6.1 miles from the hotel and estimated time is 21 minutes.

Because it is so close we will just carpool over as the cheapest bus was $ 1,000.00 for pickup wait and take home. We do not have the money for that extravagance. The actual breakdown is Ticket from MWR $ 54.50 plus $ 5.00 tip to the event. thus, the extra 50 cents will cover map copies, envelopes etc. The normal price of Preferred seating is between $ 80 and $90 so it is a real savings not to sit in the Cheap seats and not being in the Front Row the chance of dirt from the floor is less likely.

Cordially Submitted,
Dwight Hamborsky

Please visit the NSVA Website to review the 2025 proposals & resolutions that will be voted upon at the upcoming NSVA National Convention this August in Orlando Florida. On the website you can find various NSVA forms, the NSVA Constitution/Standing Rules & By-Laws, Rituals and Procedures, NSVAA contact information and Ships Store merchandise. You will also find links to other Seabee associations, IRS Tax filing information, the most recent CAN DO magazine along with archived issues too.

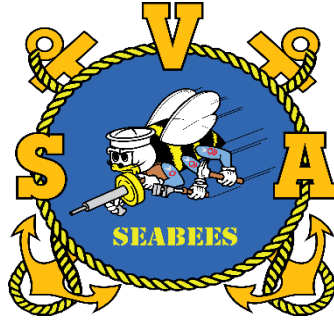

In Early March of this year Island X-1 attended the opening of the National Museum of the Pacific War located in Fredericksburg, TX. The museum is an affiliate of the Smithsonian. They had a great turn out for this opening event.

The entrance to the Museum on the left and Anthony Amesquita standing next to a larger than life statue of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.
